As canyoneers we are drawn to adventures and the desire to explore new countries is always present. Canyoning around the world is the ultimate dream for anyone who loves adventure sport. We thrive on the beauty and the challenge of these canyons, especially when few people have experienced these inspiring locations. Canyoneers are not only adventurers but also travellers we love to see new places, experience cultures and meet new people; you could almost say 'it's in our blood'.

This is what Aquactive and ICopro teams offer you to live!

On every canyoning trip or experience we develop our personal skills, learn more about ourselves as people and explorers, and we understand the importance of a good foundation of techniques. Thus, ultimately better ourselves and gaining the trust of teammates. But we don't forget the most important and fundamental aspect of canyoning; team work, comradeship and communication. Sharing our professional skills, passions and experiences is the basic framework of canyoning as it opens new doors, keeps us moving forward and develops friendships and partnerships. Therefore experiencing, sharing and developing together is also a huge part of us growing professionally.

At ICopro that's exactly what we do.

This trip of 3 days will be the perfect mixture of canyoning, caving, culture, tasting of local cuisine and other curious specialities.

But in addition to the descents of some beautiful canyons of Czech Republic, what will become most beneficial for everyone along this trip, will be that we'll share our professional knowledge and personal experience together with each other.

Extremely enriching exchanges of knowledge on canyoning are already prepared: marketing techniques, social media skills, operating systems, business skills and partnerships, guiding techniques, new ideas, organisations, expeditions, experiences, rigging techniques and equipment, new gear and new tools, prototype tests and demonstration of the future "ICOpro topodata's software" (by Mickael himself!). There will be many discussions about ICOpro and the benefits of sharing internationally about this part of Europe, as well as future development plans.

But of course, don't worry; there will be time with amazing moments of camaraderie during these 3 days ;)

This event will be very unique because that will be the opportunity to celebrate the success of the last huge expedition of canyoning in Nepal - Chamje Khola 2018 - with the two leaders of this ambitious descent: Rod Sturm (expe 2011) and Olda Stos (expe 2018) who will offer you a special projection of these two huge expeditions...
